

in the future would be highly desirable. Many additional rare plants will likely appear at the site as a result of prescribed burning management.

CURRENT STATUS: The site is privately owned.

PROTECTION RECOMMENDATIONS: The site warrants the highest possible protection because of its significant natural heritage values, and also because it is adjacent to the Blackwater Ecologic Preserve. Together these two sites would form a larger, more diverse, and more defensible natural area preserve system along the Blackwater River.